ROME, July 10 .- Prof. Rossoni, assisted by the other doctors, analyzed the serum extracted this morning. The doctors explained that the purpose of the analysis was to determine whether the case originated from tuberculosis or a tumor in the thorax. The analysis showed that the disease was merely due to simple pleurisy.

ROME, July 11, 9 a.m.—A medical bulletin regarding the condition of the Pope has just been issued. It says:

The latter part of the night was not so good, owing to the restlessness and uneasiness of the patient. Dr. Lapponi has been going almost every fifteen minutes to look at the Pontiff, who did not notice the presence of the doctor, being in a drowsy state. Dr. Lapponi administered a dose of chloral, and gave the patient at the same time an injection of camphor caffeine.

A general feeling of tranquillity marked the day in Rome, due to the widespread belief that though the Pope's days are numbered, his hour has not yet come. The sublime self-confidence of the patient permeates the people, especially the simpler folk, who go about their day's work, postponing signs of sorrow and mourning untifrom the sick bed itself they hear that the unusual struggle is nearing its end. Signor Zanardelli has expressed his personal feeling regarding the Pontiff. He added: "My duty is to assure, not only in the interest of Italy, but of all Europe, the most absolute liberty to the approaching conclave, and the full-set assurance may be entertained that this liberty will be given."

Pype Leo has manifested great interest in the intended visit of King Emmanuel to Paris next week. Today is made inquiries regarding the plans for the trip, but the person interrogated was unable to reply.

The Tribuna, the semi-official organ of the government, says ionight: "In view of the condition of the Pope, which occasions deep suspense throughout the Catholic world, the visit of King Victor Emmanuel to France has been postponed until next September by a common accord between the French and Italian governments."

The report has reached here from Berlin that Emperor William has expressed an intention of attending the Pope's funeral. As the French papers have commented on this news, saying that the Emperor's action would offered the Italians, it may be as well to say that nobody here believes the report. It may be added, further, that Italy does not look upon the papacy from this point of view, as the government, as well as the Italian people, evince their desire to demonstrate to the this point of view, as the government, as well as the Italian people, evince their desire to demonstrate to the world that, under the present conditions, that is, since 1870, when the temporal power fell, the Pope and the Vatican have enjoyed complete liberty in the exercise of their spiritual offices.

A lowly here has been developed by the Pope's illness in the person of Pio-Centra, the faithful valet of the Pontiff, who maintains a sleepless vigil night and day over his beloved master. The fatigue of the present ordeal has almost broken down the faithful attendant, but nevertheless he obstinately refuses to yield to others the honor of tendering his services. The doctors and members of the Pope's household advise, almost command Centra to take a rest, but he refuses to listen to them, respectfulty giving everyone to understand that he considers his post to be beside the Pope, and no one about the Vatican seems to have the power to drive him from the Pope's side.

WASHINGTON. GENERAL STAFF FOR THE NAVY

Proposal to Join it With that of the Army.

War Department Issues Krag-Jorgensens to Militia.

Republican Statesmen Bothered by the Need of Collecting Funds. Street Car Fraud.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A new development in the line of improving the fighting machinery of the United States, quite as important as any that has been forthcoming under Secretary Root's administration of the War Department, is believed to be almost ready for public announcement. This is no less than the creation of a joint general staff, controlling both the land and the naval forces. It has been widely noted in the press that the Navy Department, under Secretary Moody, has been moving for a naval general staff corresponding with that established in the army. There already exists a rudimentary frame for such an organisation in the navy. No further legislation will be necessary for the present, and probably none will be called for till the whole idea has been well worked out on paper and abundant illustrations afforded by experience.

The preposition ngw under consideration between the two Secretaries is a combine of the army general staff with the naval rudimentary organization on a cooperative basis, so that their study of plans and projects can be made from the point of view of joint action between land and naval forces. Hitherto such action has been spasmodic, devised suddenly in response to some demand of the moment, left largely to commanders in a campaign and liable to breaks and impediments due to causes which could not be foréseen and guarded against. The pending scheme is understood to be now in process of preparation for public anmouncement in pretty full details.

WASHINGTON, July 10 .- [Exclusi Dispatch.] The War Department has begun the work of issuing brand-new Krag-Jorgenson rifes to militia organizations that have conformed to the requirements of the recently-adopted ports submitted to the department by army inspectors, who are going all over the country to see if the State troops have organized companies, battalions and regiments as prescribed by the militia act. The department has a great reserve stock of Krags at various arsenals and army posts. They have never been used, and are in first-class condition. These area to the great transport of the state of the state

While the department is busy disbursing Krag rifes to the State troops, the government arsenals have begun work on the new army rife. This differs materially from the Krag, being only twenty-four inches in length, and, most important of all, uses cartridges that cannot be accommodated in the rifle that is going to the militia.

The well-known ridge on the Krag cartridge, by means of which several of them are strung on the "clip," is missing from the cartridge employed in the new army rife. It is believed by some that this dissimilarity in ammunition will cause trouble later on. Old ordnance officers, however, say nothing of the sort will occur.

Some of the President's friends have lately been busily engaged in booming Gow. Cummins for the Vice-Presidential nomination. They are quoting Cummins as saying the would accept the nomination if the party leaders deemed it expedient that he should take second place on the ticket, but the very suggestion of Cummins has greatly stirred up the high-protection organizations, and the American Protective Tariff League will, it is predicted nip his boom in the bud.

Before leaving Washington Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, chairman of the Finance Committee, and a leading sauthority in Washington on all tariff matters, said he would not oppose tariff revision at the proper time, providing such revision was made by the Republicans. It is understood Senator Aldrich agrees with the President that the proper time to begin will be one year from the first of next December.

Of course extreme high-protectionists, like Charles A. Moore, head of the American Protective Taroff League, will not like this tective Taroff League, will not like this programme. They are bitterly opposed to fariff revision of any sort, whether under the guise of reciprocity or by direct reduction of the schedules of the Dingiey act. They will undoubtedly serve notice on the Republican campaign managers that if the programme for tarfff revision is not dropped, they will make no contributions for next year's campaign. The "stand patters" have already succeeded in including low. Cummins to moderate his tariff-reform plank, but the Governor has served notice that he will not recede another inch, and he and his friends consented to modify the tariff plank this year only upon the President's distinct promise to the Governor that he would favor a revision of the tariff when Congress convenes a year from next December.

A fraud order was issued against the company, based on its use of an endless-chain scheme. The plan operated by the concern was: A patrorn bought any electric or elevated street railroad in the United States for $1. The book of tickets contained three coupons ("introductions," they are called) which the purchaser sold respectively to three friends. The three friends each in turn retaining 75 cents for his services.

Council for New York County Medica Association Investigating Methods of Alleged Tuberculosis Cure Concern. IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.1 NEW YORK, July 2.—Counsel for the New York County Medical Society has investigated the methods of an alleged tuberculosis cure concern bearing a name similar to a high German physician. The concern has places of business in New York, Philadelphia, Boscities, and is an dosen other larger cities, and is said to be doing a large business on the strength of the reputation of the German specialist.

It is said the attention of the District Attorney has been called to their representations, and a general warfar upon them is to be instituted. Eminent physicians in this city are said to hold letters from the German doctor denouncing the managers of the American concern as charlatans, and urging that they be exposed and stopped from further beguling suffering humanity in his name.

The Board of Health has sent out a notice that the man who is known as the head of the institution is not registered here, and has no authority to practice in New York State. He is said, however, to have been graduated from a Missouri medical college, and to have been places at the head of the concern by its promoters because of the name he bears—the same as that of the German doctor.

CHICAGO, July 10,—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Calamity and desolation have claimed the fashionable Lakeside and Sheridan clubs as their prey. In the prime of social and financial prosperity, these organizations are face to face with a situation never before met with in the annals of local clubdom. Under a ruling by Corporation Counsel Tol-man, both must either move out of Hyde Park prohibition district or quit dispensing liquors to their members.

The Lakeside Club is the foremost Jewish social club of the West. The Sheridan has not a rival among the leading Roman Catholic social clubs of swer. Gloomy predictions are made that should prohibition be enforced in the club premises, the clubhouse would gradually lose its attraction and the club its membership. But the city au-thorities will enforce the law, which is recently made operative against clubs by a Supreme Court decision.

"It might have been expected." he said, "that I would find a weary, old mgn with exhausted body and spirit, and ready to enter eternity. But, on the contrary, when I approached the bedside I immediately saw that I had been mistaken. In spite of all I had heard concerning his marvelous vitality, I was amased to find a man of such great age, after so dangerous an illness, exhibiting fluch versatility of mind and such power of mentality. Coccu-Ortu, under awhose jurisdiction are all religious affairs in Italy, about the eventual right of veto which the Italian government might exercise at the next conclave. Three Catholic powers, Spain, France and Austria, enjoy this privilege, termed "right of exclusion," which entitles them to veto the election of a candidate, who is not a persona grata to their governments. In such a case, a power which may desire to prevent the election of a certain candidate deputes a cardinal of its nations!"—to announce the objection at the conclava, but the announcement must be made while the scrutiny is going on, before the candidate has received the majority of votes required to elect, otherwise, the protest would be invalid. This right has been regarded as extremely important, especial!—in the Middle Ages, when Italy, being the largest field of action for France, Austria and Spain, the choice of a Pontiff was a question of supreme importance, as he played a large part in their disputes.

Italy claims the right referred to as the beir of the Kingdom of the Twa

Standard Oil Economy.

Several months ago the writer visited the largest of the Standard can factories, the Devoe, on the East River. Long Island City. It has a capacity of 70,000 five-gailon cans a day and is probably the largest can factory in the world.

The five-gailon can tarned out at the Devoe is a marvel of evolution. The present methods of manufacture are almost entirely the work of Mr. Herman Miller, known in Standard circles as the "father of the five-gailon can."

The machinery for making the can has been so developed that while, in 1866, when Mr. Miller began his work, one man and a boy soldered 850 cans in a day, in 1880 three men have made 24,000. It is an actual fact that a the can is made by Miller in just, about the time it takes to walk from the point in the factory where the sheets of tin are unloaded to the point where the finished article is filled with oil.

And here is a nice point in combination. Not far away from the canning works, on Newton creek, is an oil refinery. This oil ruis to the canning works, and, as the new-made cans come down by a chute from the works above, where they have just been finished, they are filled, twelve at a time, with the oil made a few miles away. The cans are placed at once in wooden boxes standing ready, and, after a twenty-four-hour wait for diacovering leaks, are nailed up and carted to a mearby door. This door opens on the river, and there at anchor by the side of the factory is a vessel chartered for South America or China, or where not—waiting to receive the cans which a little more than twenty-fours before were tin sheets lying in flat boxes. It is a marvelous example of esonomy, not only in materials but in time and footsteps.—[McClure's Mag-azine.

North Shore Disasters Work of Train Wrecker.

Two More Attempts Made, but are Happily Foiled.

Appointed by the Governor French Prune Crop-Three New Banks.

IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.1 SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The three mysterious wrecks on the North Shore Railroad, with their record of death and suffering, are now believed to have been the work of a cold-blooded train wrecker, who may have had accomplices in his 'terrible work, but whose motives are unknown. It has been learned that within the past few days two unsuccessful attempts have been made to derail trains near where the previous disasters occurred. days ago a freight train run ning south was brought to a sudden stop on a curve south of Camp Pistolesi. The jar was a heavy one, and nearly lifted the engine from the ralls. The train was proceeding at the time at about one-fourth its usual speed, and to this fact alone is attributed the averting of a serious wreck. Upon exaverting of a serious wreck. Upon expiece of steel rail had been lashed across and to the rails. It was securely fastened in position by heavy wrappings of stout wire. It was jammed under the forward trucks of the engine, and was with difficulty removed by the frightened trainmen. of rail was taken to the Sausalito of by the frightened trainmen. The piece of rail was taken to the Sausalito offices of the company.

This attempt was followed by another yesterday morning. Had it not been for the fact that a handcar passed over the track before the passenger trains reached the point where the wreck was planned, there would have been another disastrous wreck. The handcar was thrown to the ground and one of the section hands was severely injured.

An investigation disclosed an old drawbar, used for coupling cars, securely tied inside the rail in such a position as to pass unnoticed, save under close inspection. It was old and rusty, and had evidently been thrown to the side of the road, where it had lain for many monthe. Had a train passed over it to destruction the piece of iron would have been twisted and thrown into the debris of the wreck. General Manager Rand said today: "We are making every effort to find the guilty party or parties, and I regret exceedingly that the matter has been made public before any arrests have been made."

BREMERTON "WET" AGAIN. FOUR SALOONS REOPENED.

TACOMA (Wash.) July 10 .- [Exclu sive Dispatch.] The Superlor Court of Kitsap county has defeated the plan of the Navy Department to close all navy yard. In June Secretary Moody directed that all repair work at Bremeran ordinance in special session revok-ing every saloon license. Navy repair work was then resumed. Four out of the eighteen saloon proprietors have re-Ing the matter into the Superior Court. Yesterday, at Sidney, Judge Denney granted a writ of certiorari, protecting these saloons from interference by the Bremerton Council until July 24, when the case will be heard.

The four saloon-keepers, who re-opened today, desire to continue busi-ness until their licenses expire in Ocnce revoking the licenses is ilbetween its introduction and passage. It is believed that the Navy Department will take no action pending the trial of the cases.

INHERITANCE TAX. PARTIALLY INVALIDATED.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.I SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The scope of the collateral inheritance tax was narrowed by the Supreme Court today, but the act was not wholly intoday, but the act was not wholly invalidated, as was expected by many of the State's legal authorities. Nephews and nicces of testators can secure their legacies free of the impost, provided that they are legal residents of California, or any other State in this country. Such relatives who may live in Territories or foreign lands must pay the required 5 per cent, on money or property left to them. The court stands six to one for this decision, Chief Justice Beatty dissenting.

The detectives think that only one man was involved in the assault. They have discovered that the woman's husband, a brircklayer, quit work, and went home on the same afternoon. He says he suspected that all was not right. She states that he arrived after the attempted robbery.

SANTA ROSA, July 10.—The hop crop in this section will be much lighter than indicated several weeks ago, conditions now showing that the crop will fall far below the yield of last year. Similar reports are being received from other hop-growing sections, including the hop districts of the Northwest and East. The shortinge of the crop will result in a material advance in prices. accompanied by great damages to engline and cars, occurred near Everett, on the main line of the Great Northern tonight, caused by the locomotive coliding with a cow on the track. The entire train, with the exception of the rear car, was thrown from the tracks. The engine was smashed into fragments, the baggage car hurled to the right side of the track and turned completely over, and the smoking car and passenger coaches turned over onto their sides. None of the passengers were killed, and no limbs broken, though bruises and minor cuts were plentiful.

Berkeley Reporter Killed.

OAKLAND., July 10.—W. K. Allen, a well-known Berkerey reporter, fell off a Telegraph-avenue street car last night and received injuries from which he died at 9 o'clock this morning. Allen was near-sighted and while standing on the rear of the car he missed his footing and fell as the car was going Tull speed. He sustained concussion of the brain. Allen's relatives live at Palo Alto.

PASSES TWO-MILLION MARK. Chicago has passed the 2,000,000 mark. Its present population is 2,231,000, according to the publishers of the City Directory for 1903. The directory contains 624,000 names, an increase over last year of 28,500.

The publishers figure the present population of the city by the familiar algebraic proposition, which, it is believed, gives a fairly accurate estimate. The formula runs in this way: The number of names in the directory of 1890 by the the resultation of that way. 1890 is to the population of that year as established by the United States census as 654,000, the number of names in this year's directory, is to 2,231,000. So far as numerical strength is con-cerned, the Johnsons win with a total of 5986 names. The Smiths are second, and the Joneses come third. The two shortest names in the directory are Re and Ex. THE PREVENTION OF CRIME.

At the monthly meeting of the University Club, on Thursday, an interesting paper on "Crime, Its Pre-vention and Cure," was read by Dr. Walter Lindley, who has for many years been connected with the reform school at Whittier. The subject is a certain class of people its importance would doubtless be better realized if they could see, in black and white, that crime costs the American nation private homes for wayward children, where the manifest evils of the reform school might be avoided. Another speaker called attention to the fact that there is in Massachusetts a system of this kind, where children are placed in select homes, the State form school might be avoided. Anmaintenance The chief drawback of this system has been found in the difficulty of securing thoroughly comwho are free from political influence.

In relation to crime, as to disease the saying certainly holds true Lindley suggested that training for the prevention of crime should begin in the kindergarten. This is good, as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. In order to prevent -nay, to the grandparents, and provide that children shall be rightly born. However, while doing this, we steps as are practicable to lessen and

In looking at this question with unprejudiced eyes, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that a fruitful source of crime in the United States may be nd in the lax discipline which we observe in families. We have made a before. it is not surprising to find that we are reaping a rich harvest of results. taught to respect. Another question discussed at the neeting was that of teachers in the public schools. Dr. Lindley claimed that, after the primary school, boys should be taught by men. In this he is undoubtedly correct. It is the height of folly to place a large number active, mischievous and unruly boys, of the age of 12 to 15 years, say, in charge of a woman, who is often said about the sweet influence of woman, and so forth, the fact is that boys at that age need over them a man with a strong head, a strong arm and a strong will. As Dr. Lindley said: "The old Scotch school master, with his birch or cane, was far and into sturdy manhood than the sweet-faced, tender-hearted young school ma'am of today." sidered in this connection is in regard to our reform schools and peni-tentiaries. It is a well known fact that, notwithstanding the best efforts made by those in charge, our reform schools are to a great extent breed-ing grounds for vice and crime, and the same is yet more true of our penitentiaries. It is said that there is not in either of the State penitentiaries at San Quentin or Folsom single cell intended for only one occupant. Hence, young men who are path are forced into close intimac with hardened criminals, with results that may easily be imagined, and ar altogether too apparent. When will State authorities learn that a penitentiary should serve a purpose other than mere punishment-that it should aim at systematic work in the line of reinvestments ever made by the United States if Congress would appropriate a million dollars a year for a complete study of this important question and for the institution of reforms

From an article published in the Railway Age for July 3, it appears be hencefited, and therefore should not that to quote from that journal. "it has been a poor year, so far, for steam railway receivers, and the busiclosure has also been remarkably dull. No steam railway company in the United States, operating so much as thirty miles of road, has become insolvent, and the five little lines of from four to twenty-eight miles which have failed to meet their interest obligations during the last six months or ability to exist." The "five little lines" referred to, for which receivers were appointed, had a total mileage of seventy-nine, and a total bonded debt of $5,010,000, with capital stock aggregating $835,000.

a plea for State institutions and 30 only three steam roads in the United States were sold under foreclosure proceedings, and these were numbered eleven, covering 249 miles of road and aggregating $12,707,000 of capitalization.

The foregoing is certainly a remarkable showing for the steam railroad business. Only a few years ago about half the steam railroads in the country, it seemed, were in the hands of receivers. But great changes have been wrought during the past six or seven years. Unprecedented prosperity has come to nearly all classes of business. The railroads, in common with other enterprises, have felt the impetus of the new life, and have secured a generous share of the prevailing prosperity. Extensions and improved equipment have been the or-der of the day. Roads which were financially embarrassed have increased their earnings to such an extent that they have been extricated from their difficulties and placed upon a prosperous basis. The railway business of the country is probably on a sounder footing today than it has ever been

The record of the past six months for electric railways is not so favor-able. The Railway Age has compiled five electric railway companies which have gone into the hands of receivers since the first day of January. These, as indicated by the compilation, "show a total length of 577 miles of track, representing $27,658,000, of bonds and $35,400,000 of capital stock, a grand total of $63,058,000 of street railway securities placed in the hands parison with $5,845,000 of securities of steam roads in similar condition."

There were also foreclosure sales, since January 1, of four electric roads, representing 117 miles of track, and $6,866,000 of bonds, and stock. "Comparing the 202,500 miles of steam rail—

I lines and their $12,134,000,000 of stock and bonds, with the 16,650 miles of electric lines liberally capitalized at $2,145,000,000." says the the Railway

$2.145,000,000," says the the Railway Age, in conclusion, "the contrasts in the above table are at least suggesive if not instructive."

It is well to bear in mind, in this onnection, that the building and operation of electric railroads is comparatively a new enterprise. The inlustry is in its infancy. Improvements are constantly being made in the methods of generating and transmitting the current, in equipment, and electric railway is, so to speak, in a transition state, while the steam roads have more nearly reached their ultimate condition. Although the electric road has long since passed the stage of experiment, so far as relates to the question of its practicability, experimentation and improvement will go on for years, and during this period of development, expenses will naturally be heavier than they will be at termined, with reference to the economic side of the industry. That the electric railway is to have foregone conclusion. Whether it will eventually displace steam for traction purposes is a question which only the future can decide. It seems more than likely, however, that in the fu-ture steam and electricity will be found working peacefully, side by side (often over the same tracks) each system doing the work for which it is best adapted, at the maximum of than likely, however, that in the fu-

THE MARCH OF MOHAMMEDANISM. I We are in the habit of supposing that missionary work is entirely con-fined to the Christian churches, and that missionary work is entirely confined to the Christian churches, and that Christian churches, and that Christianity is the only religion that is nowadays obtaining new converts. Such, however, is not the case. Another religion, which claims many millions of enthusiastic followers, Mohammedanis:n, has aroused of late from a long period of quiescence. Most of this progressive movement is due to a puritanical sect of Mohammedans called "Wahabis," whose founder appeared early in the eighteenth century in the interior of Arabia. This movement has been compared by some to the reformation of Luther in Germany, being originally directed against abuses in religious worship and increasing luxury of worship. It was, in short, a spiritual reviyal, but developed into a more or less political movement, and about a dozen years ago the Turkish government proceeded against it.

In Hindustan there has been a striking increase of Mohammedanism. The whole of British India, inclusive of the 1881, 250,150,050 inhabitants, of whom 49,362,704 were Mohammedans; and in the year 1891, 280,062,080 inhabitants, of whom 57,061,795 were Mohammedana.

This growth is vastly greater than the growth of Christianits, in India the growth of Christianity in India, and far beyond the natural growth of and ar seyond the natural growth of population, so that some observers be-lieve that Mohammedanism will in course of time be the universal reli-gion of the great peninsula of Hin-dustan.

In other parts of the Orient there has also been a great increase in the number of those who follow Mohammed. In Burma, during the decade between 1881 and 1891, the pumber of Mohammedians increased from 168,881 to 210,-049, representing nearly 25 per cent. of the population. In the Malay archipelago the number of Mohammedans is reckoned at 31,600,000, out of 44,000,-000 inhabitants. In China, also, that religion has made steady progress. It is, however, in the Dark Continent that the most remarkable progress of Mohammedism has been noted fol late. Even in districts where Christian missions seem to have gained a firm footing, Mohammedanism obtains at increasing number of followers. In other parts of the Orient there has ar, increasing number of followers. Thus, in the beginning of the year Thus, in the beginning of the year 1870 Islamism was entirely unknown in Sierra Leone and Lagos, the two chief English settlements, while now about a third of the entire population profess the religion of Mahammedanism. Some time ago Oskar Mann, an American student of comparative religion, thus summed up Mohammedan gion, thus summed up Monammedan progress in Africa:

"In order to give some idea of the immense spread of Mohammedanism in these regions, it suffices to mention that, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, with the exception of Timbuctoo, there was scarcely a Mohammedan settlement in the region of the Niger, while in the year 1897 from 40 to 50 per cent. of the entire population were Mohammedans; and at the present day the Mohammedans paper of influence reaches as far as the northern frontier of the French Kongo State.

In round numbers, at the present day, the Dark Continent contains eighty millions of Mohammedans to about two hundred millions of inhabitants. 'It is hardly too much to say that one-half of the whole of Africa is already dominated by Islam, while, of the remaining half, one-quarter is leavened and another threatened by it. These numbers speak for themselves. progress in Africa:

while this condition of affairs will not be pleasing to those who look for the spread of the religion of Christ over the entire world, they may console themselves with the knowledge that Mohammedanism is at least a big improvement over the conditions of affairs that formerly prevailed throughtal agree portion of the Park Contirairs that formerly prevailed throughout a large portion of the Dark Continent. On this subject R. Bosworth Smith, one of the best judges of the African races, has said:

"The worst evils which prevailed at one time over the whole of Africa, and which are still, to be found in many parts of it, and those, too, not far from the Gold Coast and from the English settlements—cannibalism and human sacrifice and the burial of living infants—disappear at once and forever. Natives who have hitherto lived in a state of nakedness, or nearly so, begin to dress, and that neatly; natives who have never washed before begin to wash, and that frequently, for ablutions are commanded in the sacred law, and it is an ordinance which does not involve too severe a strain on their natural instincts. The tribal organization tends to give piace to something which has a wider basis. In other words, tribes coalesce into nations, and, with call to prayer repeated five times a day . . becomes the center of the village, instead of the ghastly fetish or juju house. The worship of one God, omnipotent, omnipresent, omniscient, and compassionate, is an immeasurable advance upon anything which the native has been taught to worship before."

Perhaps the secret of the success of Mohammedan missionaries may be found in the fact that, contrary to the usually accepted opinion, that religion in other details of the system. The tion, as for example, in China, they avoid either wounding or provoking those of a different belief, and manage to adapt religious ordinances to old customs; they include the old feasts in their calendar, and take an active share be in the dreams induced by the enchanting flower. No town has been wiped out or even injured.

How much truth lies at the basis of this story? The $5,000 acres of land which this report has it as overflowed, are the delta lands mostly in Mexico, which are subject to a shallow overflow every summer. Many farmers have taken up these lands to the extent of thousands of acres, and have built levees about their fields and homes. Of all these private levees just four broke, destroying perhaps one hundred and fifty acres of crops. Such was the terrible havoc in the "flooded district." In addition to this a break occurred in the Farmers' Canal, which has damaged that property, as estimated by the officers of the company, $500, and flooded a few fields of alfalfa, melting two adobe buildings. The head works of the canal are not wrecked as stated; on the contrary, the headgate is in perfect condition. Such is the extent of the "awful calamity" which has visited Yuma.

In spite of the assertions of the Herald's correspondent to the contrary, no one has fied for his life; no family has been rendered homeless; no stock or buildings have been washed away; Mr. Lippincott, engineer of the United States Geological Survey, was not reached, nor was he ever in danger; and there has been no "improvised life-saving crew." Nor is it expected by any same man that mining and prospecting parties will prove to have been lost in the floods washing down the cafions of Northern Arisona. This is simply the usual summer rise of the Colorado. In fact, the river was but two inches higher than in 1961 and not so high by considerable as it was in 1891 or even in 1894.

It is one of the unfortunate features that any hysterical simpleton, or jeal-ous knave in a rival community, can rush into print with a statement so weak and exaggerated as to be a huge joke to those who know the facts, but still a powerful engine of destruction to the financial hopes and aspirations of a growing community wishing to a tract capital and immigration. Another Business Man Resents Union Circular-Says Unions Are Liable for

The boycotting circulars addressed to newspaper advertisers throughout the country by one Hay, head of the local labor-union boycotting bureau, have served to widely advertise. The Times, bring new business to this journal, and call forth denunciation of the un-American union methods from the representative business men addressed. Many of the men addressed have replied to the threats of the unions to boycott their product with expressions of defiance and rebukes of their impertinence, and these letters have been published almost daily. The following friendly communication, referring to the circular aiready published, has just been received, and is self-explanatory:

The Doctor's Appetite.

The Doctor's Appetite.

Dr. H. L. Bonner, a leading physician of Marion, Ohio, is said to have an appetite which would keep a regimental commissary busy. The doctor is a graduate of an Edinburgh college, is 43 years old, enjoys a good practice and unusually good health. When nature planned the doctor's physical casket, rugged and powerful lines were followed and he was given a stomach or a battery of stomachs large enough for half a dozen men.

There are but two in the doctor's family, but it is not uncommon for him to order a fifteen-pound short rib roast for dinner, and what is left at the conclusion of the meal wouldn't make a railroad eating-house sandwich. He has been seen to eat twenty-five pounds of grapes at a sitting. One afternoon he ate fourteen cans of cove oysters and a few minutes later ate practically an entire Edam cheese and a couple of pounds of crackers.

He has eaten at one time an entire bunch of bananas—not a hittle bunch, but a great big one. Late one winter's night a couple of friends kept tab on him and saw him eat two dozen raw New York counts, two dozen fried, an oyster stew, two pumpkin ples, a number of pigs' feet, half a dozen hard boiled eggs, half a chicken, half a dozen hard boiled eggs, half a chicken, half a dozen fried an anumber of other side dishes usually supplied with meat orders. He never takes less than a four or five-pound steak for a luncheon, and at night after a hard drive he has eaten fifty six hard boiled eggs, three and a half pumpkin ples and over a gallon of milk. The doctor has eaten at one sitting a crate of strawberries and at another time a basket of peaches.

A traveling man who is a friend of the doctor, was recently made the victim of the latter's abnormal appetite. He invited the doctor out to lunch. The doctor what he would have and was told that a nice five-pound steak smothered in mushrooms, about two dozen hard boiled eggs, some potatoes, some cucumbers and the side dishes would about fill the bill.

The friend, thinking the doctor bluffing, ordered some cucumbers and the side dishes would about fill the bill.

The friend, thinking the doctor bluffing, ordered two five-pound steaks, the eggs and other dishes suggested. Just as they began to eat a couple of men entered the restaurant and engaged the doctor's friend in conversation. In addressing them he turned his back to the table and became engrossed in the conversation. The doctor meanwhile was eating, finishing his own steak and other dishes. Then he started upon those of his friend and when the latter turned around he found that the table had been cleared of eatables.

The doctor smokes, but is not a drinker, and, aside from his excessive eating, does nothing which could possibly injure his health. He goes to bed early and is up with the lark.

He is a book lover. In the city there is not another man so given to study of high class literature. He is a lover of the rare in the flower creation and delights in obtaining or raising those specimens of plants which are ordinarily inaccessible. He is gentle in manner and speech.—(St. Louis Republic.

Rattlesnake Skin's Value.

Rattlesnake Skin's Value.

"I reckon I got the first anake bite of the season," said O. M. Perrin, the nineteen-year-old son of Mrs. E. M. Perrin, of 223 West Fourteenth avenue, as he held up to view a swollen forefinger, blue at the nail. "I thought I was gone, and I suppose I would have gone if I hadn't run across Harry Davis, the snake charmer."

Young Perrin is employed as "cowpuncher" at Shriner's ranch, forty miles north of Denver. On Thursday he was bitten by a large snake. He tells of his experience like this:

"I was riding down the road and saw the snake lying right in my path. I got down off my horse and siamped on the snake lying right in my path. I got down off my horse and siamped on the snake lying right in was adead. My next action was to skin it, for it was a big one and different from any I had ever seen before. I took hold of it, and quick as flash, it nalled me in this forefinger.

"I shook the snake and tried to get loose, but it hung on till I swung it around my head and popped it like a whip. It flew away off in the grass, and then I looked at my finger and found that it was bleeding considerably. I went to the ranch house and one of the boys put some salve on it.

"Next day my hand and my whole arm were swollen terribly, and I ached clear up to my shoulder. The boys said I had better come to town and see a doctor, and I did so. The doctor said he couldn't do anything for me unless I could tell him what kind of a snake it was that bit me, and I didn't know.

"A friend of mine told me about tharry Davis, and so I went right away to him. He asked me about the snake and came to the conclusion that it, was a spreadhead adder that had

Thursday's score was bound to affect Friday's. Dillon had lost one game and would lose no more, while Portland's team saw in their hardearned triumph an omen of more victories to come. With these feelings, both teams went at it this afternoon. er Strenhart Will Strain him to do much. Corbett pitched, up-holding his side every time and mak-ing up for Dillon. At 4:30 o'clock the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of Portland; at 4:50 p.m. it was 5 to 0 in the Browns' fine batting, but the Angels hung to gether better as a team. The weather was very warm. The crowd was good-natured and willing to applaud the fine work on either side.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The

SAN FRANCISCO teams SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The Sacramento and San Francisco teams played one of the best and fastest games of the season today. The fielding was fine and the pitching fast. Cutter was in splendid form, the only clean hit coming against him in the ninth, when the only run of the game was made on Irwin's safety, an out, and Townsend's failure to stop a batted ball. The other hit against Cutter was a gcratch. The fielding of the locals was faultiess. Score:

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 10.—With three men on bases, two out and Seattle one run behind, Wilson batted for Hanlon in the eighth inning, and hit the ball past first for two bases, scoring three runs and winning the game.
Score:

CORBETT WAS EXCITING. PORTLAND (Or.) July 10.—Portland presented the Angels with a nest of goose eggs today, in spite of the fact that Corbett, Los Angeles pride, was in the box. He created great excitement and received some pointed advice from Dillon and the bleachers, in the fourth and fifth, during which he hit two men and donated a total of seven safe hits, one of which was a two-bagger by Anderson. Butler was hit hard, but kept the hits well scattered. Score:

HOW IT HAPPENED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, July 10.—Maher had been riding at the Lingfeld races and was returning home in Lord Carnarvon's automobile, which had been loaned him, when the accident occurred. Maher himself was driving, and the chauseur himself was driving, and the chauffeur was sitting beside him. They were going at a hot pace when the steering gear failed to act, and the car dashed into a motor occupied by a lady and gentleman which was going in the opposite direction. Maher and the chauffeur were both hurled from their automobile, and when picked up were unconscious. Both were removed to Catherham Cottage Hospital, where they still remain reuseless. The latest reports from the hospital authorities characterise their condition as "very grave." The occupants of the other car were only slightly hurt.

W. W. King in last night's playing maintained his lead and defeated Walter Johnston in their 500-bail pool match by the score of 52s to 495. It was provided that all penalties for scratches be made up at the finish. When King had pocketed his 500 balls he made up the 25 scratch penalties, which gave him the contest Johnston at the close had 496 balls pocketed, but had not made up the 29 scratches against him.

Johnston put up a stubborn fight at all stages, but King was a little too consistent, and seldom failed to take advantage of all the opportunities offered by Johnston's occasional lapses. The match was for a side bet of $350 cach, and was held at the Royal. As an exhibition of sciertific pool play it was highly satisfactory.

his fate in the person og alias caultyn beyland. She was the stunning twenty-year-old daughter of Superintendent Beyland of the Knoxville Iron Company. The young pleader instantily perceived that a career without her in it would be empty. Also the maid felt sure that she had been stumbled upon by her affinity.

The two were too busy from then on to tell anybody their plans. She was attending High School, so they arranged it to wed just as soon as she graduated, in June. After everything had been cut and dried between them, they decided to let the folks in on the deal. Sellers's parents congratulated their boy, and were glad he had decided to settle down. The girl's father also expreased pleasure at the match. Mrs. Beyland, the girl's mother, would not listen to it.

expreased pleasure at the match. Are. Beyland, the girl's mother, would not listen to it.

Mrs. Beyland enlisted her two young men sons and launched a campaign to kill true love. All efforts to stop matters on the spot proving futile, it was decided at last to try starvation. It was thought the girl would soon be weaned from her passion, if removed from the embraces and influence, of her ardent lover. So one brother came from Chicago, and the opposition trio took the unwilling Cathryn to a sequestered spot away from Knoxville. That was three weeks ago.

Sellers was frantic when he learned of the abduction of his sweetheart. He consulted first with his wealthy father, declaring his determination to search the ends of the earth for his soul's mate. The wealthy father gave the boy slibble in cash and told him to go, promising to back him to any length.

Young Sellers engaged a private detective named W. M. McIntyre, and the two took the trail. They traced Mrs. Beyland, the Knoxville son and the daughter first to St. Louis, then to Kansas City, to Denver, and finally to La Junta. Then for a time the fugitives were lost track of, being soon relocated in Salt Lake. Before the pursuers could arrive at Salt Lake, the fleeing trio had proceeded to San Francisco. Sellers and Detective McIntyre raced to San Francisco, only to learn that the wanted Iamily had come to Los Angeles.

In an effort to prevent another jump before they could arrive here, Sellers sent a telegram addressed to Miss Beyland, seneral delivery, informing her that he was coming by fastest train to claim her. This telegram was intercepted before it could reach the eyes of the girl. The lover and the detective arrived in Los Angeles at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and registered at the Van Nuys. Quick investigation revealed that Mrs. Beyland, son and daughter had been warned by the telegram. for they had moved away that morning. It was ascertained that the son had secured employment in the machine department of the Pacific Electric Company, and he was lo

Bresee of the Nazarene Church, and he was brought to the hotel to tie the knot.

Then, at the last moment, the most exciting incident of the whole remarkable affair occurred, which might easily have resulted in a tragedy, with the groom-to-be as the victim. Brother Beyland, by some means, got wind that something of the kind was transpiring, and came to the Van Nuys. He read the name of McIntyre on the register and quietly went to the third floor to hunt for the room of his enemies. As Seilers approached his room he came upon the girl's brother, who, on seeing him became furious with rage.

After but a few angry words, the two stalwart young men came to blows. Beyland tried to keep Seilers from passing him to reach the room where the ceremony was to take place. The men pulled and punched and wreatied in the hallway for some seconds. Then Detective McIntyre came upon the scene better McIntyre came upon the scene

A machine by which one's handwriting may be transmitted by telephone wire is the invention of E. Karl Gruhn, of Dresden, Germany, and is now being exhibited at the offices of J. B. Crosby, 52 Broadway. It is called the telchirograph, but it is, in fact, merely a greatly improved form of telautograph.

This instrument differs from telautographs heretofore invented in that the power required for it is much less than that needed for others doing the same thing. This machine also does not require the services of an operator wielding a stencil at the receiving end. The inventor says that his scheme has been tried between Dresden and Berlin and gave complete satifaction. A few days ago a check was written on the instrument, and the reproduction was readily honored at the bank upon which it was drawn.

It is expected that this invention will be largely used by stock brokers and by railroads at stations where it is too expensive to employ telegraph operators. Mr. Gruhn says in a few days he will have two machines working over a wire 50c miles long. It is claimed that one can write and talk simultaneously with this machine.—(New York World.

THREE BELLBOYS TELL ABOUT DIAMOND ROBBERY.

THEY FELL OUT OVER "DIVVY" AND ONE "SOUEALED."

Full Statement by Baer, Engvahl and Reinlein Regarding Theft of Mrs. Webster's Jewels Made to Chief Elton. Reinlein Took Gems from Safe.

The whole story of how three beliboys stole diamonds and other jewelry from the Meirose Hotel, of their disposal of the plunder and of their arrest in Chicago, and their return to Los Angeles is known to the local detective department; for all of the criminals impli-cated in the crime have confessed, and cated in the crime have confessed, and their confessions have been taken down in writing. It is probable that they will make no defense, and will plead, guilty when their cases come to trial and throw themselves on the mercy of the court. Only a few of the stolen articles have been recovered.

The three young men who committed this, the most serious theft which has occurred in this city in years, are hardly past their majority, but all of them ap-past their majority, but all of them appear to have been schooled in crime. William Baer, the leader of the gang, is only $1. John Engvan is 20, and Charles Reinlein, who really committed the theft, says he is but 18, but he looks older. The three were brought back from Chicago, and yesterday morning in the office of Chief Elton they told the story. No one of them knew that the other had confessed, but all told the same tale. Later they were presented in the Police Court for arraignment, and their cases set for next Tuesday.

knew that the other had confessed, but all told the same tale. Later they were presented in the Police Court for arraignment, and their cases set for next Tuesday.

The three boys were employed in Hotel Melrose, and on October 28, when the theft was committed, Reiniein was acting as night clerk. He had been informed by the other boys that Mire were looking for a chance to steal it. On that night she left her valuables in the hotel safe in a jewer case, and of course thought them secure. Reiniein finformed his companions that they were there, and they told him to steal it. On that night she left her valuables in informed his companions that they were there, and they told him to steal it. On the did so, graptying the jewel case and leaving it intact. He took the diamonds and other jewelry to Badrand Engvahl and they secreted them.

A few days later all three thleves left the city, having first shipped the booty over to Báer, who took it to New York, where he pawned it, returning to New Orseans with the proceeds, which the three divided. They then went to Chicago, but on the way they quarreled, and one of them was robbed by the others of all his share of the robbery except a few dollars, and when they reached chicago the services were made in Chicago the boy who was robbed by the others of all his share of the robbery except a few dollars, and when they reached chicago the services and the led to their confessions.

After reading one of its advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. The company of duck shooting for fifteen years and fair sport thereafter, then part with a the Recreation Gun Club. In 1884, Frank Ingalis, Fred Holbrook and a few others acquired the land on which the club is now situated, from the Machados, paying a modest price therefor, but more than it was then believed to be worth. They made a duck club of it, and the membership gradually grew until the present figure of twenty-seven was reached. The club owns a house that resembles a summer hotel; it is the biggest thing in the *marsh, with fine fireplaces, individual rooms and all manner of conveniences. There has been some trouble with water the last two or three years, and a great deal more from wild shooting; the club would have much better sport if a few of the members would set their farthest decoys 60 yards out and wait until the birds swing over them, or go blind when the skyscrapers pass over, but the Recreationiteg are a liberal crowd and like to make the ammunition business good. Anything within 150 yards is a good shot to some of them. The Beach Land Company, which is the same organization as that operating at Playa del Rey, in case it secures the Recreation Club tract, will cut it up into Jots and put, the same on the market.

SUNDAY, JULY 12.

"Saul's Kingly Conduct." (Verses 28-21.)

"(26.) And Saul also went to his hous to Gibeah: and there went with him the host, whose hearts God had touched. (27.) But certain worthless fellows said, How shall this man save us? And they despised him, and brough him no present. But he held his peace."

Saul went to his home, when the assembly dispersed without establishing a court, because there was no emergency demanding it, and the feede: time for meditation. Kings in those days did not have just such habits as Kings today. Saul would in time surround himself with kingly circumstances. It happened to him, just as it does to all in places of importance-certain men came to his support and a certain class began to rebel and defame and foment mischlef.

Those who followed had hearts that responded to God's touch. The sink of the noble Saul, the grandeur of the barer opening nup through these god touched their hearts. This band enhanced their hearts with the missinglificant tribe, "little Benjamin," who was no better than anyone else. They not only growled, but offered him an insuit by bringing him no present that he said nothing. He had too much honor to bother with them soon after he led the people to a great victory and won great praise and homage. When they cried out for the death of their opposers, he said. "There shall not a man be put to death to the hold and the process of selection is forever."

(4.) That when people go against God's expressed commands and rely on Him to guide them in so doing, they need a great deal of discipline.

(5.) That modesty is next to humility.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. THE CHRISTIAN'S EQUIP-

is determined by the nature of his need. The Spirit is powerful in every direction. Does one lack wisdom? The Spirit will be wisdom to him. Is he fearful? He may find courage in the Spirit. Is he weak? The Spirit is strong. Has he sorrow? The Spirit is the comforter. Is he slow of speech? The Spirit will be to him utterance. There is no part of the equipment of a Christian worker that cannot be fully supplied by the Spirit of God.

God is a God of law. He works through means. He will not perform a miracle to effect that which may be accomplished by human labor. The man who is too indolent or purposeless to apply himself to books will never be given supernatural wisdom by the Spirit. The Spirit was not sent to make up for man's laziness. What we cannot get for ourselves we may depend upon the Spirit to supply, but nothing else. After human endeavor has reached its limit, the Spirit adds His availing help.

To ignore or neglect the Spirit is to offend Jesus, whose gift He is.

The presence of the Spirit in the heart is proved only by the fruits of the Spirit in the life (Gal. 5:22.)

A PATRIOT'S DUTIES.

The Enworth League topic for July 12 is "My Place as a Christian Citizen."-[Matt xvii, 26-27; I Tim. ii, 1-2; I Pet. ii, 13-27. The three Scripture references sug-

He fails to apprehend the genius Christianity, as well as the genius of patriotism, who never sacrifices his own convenience and inclination for the sake of a principle or a neighbor.

The Christian's place as a citizen is a fighting place. He, of all men, should be found in the thick of all active efforts for the promotion of the public welfare and for the protection of the ideals of the nation. If the country cannot count on the men who prefers the ideals of Jesus, upon whom, then, can she count?

Mr. H. W. Prank, c/o Hearld Sq. Hotel, City,

Dear Sir: Our Rochester office informs us that you might be interested in some of the spring weights we still have on hand for immediate delivery. Inasmuch as we have an appointment to show same to a very large purchaser Thursday afternoon, we would ask you to kindly stop in tomorrow (Wednesday) and pick out such styles as may interest you. Hoping to have the pleasure of seeing you, we remain, Yours very traly, THE STRIM-BLOCK CO.

Instead of buying only part of the goods referred to in the above quoted letter, our Mr. Frank made an offer on the entire lot consisting of 543 Men's Summer Weight Suits....

They are now on our counters. We bought them at 65e on the dollar which is a big cut on high grade goods, such as "The Stein-Bloch Co." are famous for throughout the United States. The patterns are choice, covering a wide range of materials, and light, medium and dark in colors. Many are small lots of from 3 to 12 of a kind. Our good fortune is that the sizes run from 34 to 46 chest measure; so that we can fit the big stout man and the tall man, the little short man, as well as the regular man.

We feel particularly pleased with the purchase because it gives us an opportunity to offer the public of Los Angeles fine clothing at very low prices. Come in and look them ever. You wen't be impertuned to buy. Here are the prices:

Work to be Rushed.

Fancy structural material to be used on the front of the new Chamber of Commerce building has arrived, several weeks behind schedule. In consequence of the St. Louis floods the shipments of all fancy material has been delayed and contractors have been unable to make as satisfactory progress as they had hoped.

Considerable of the stone and terra cotta is covered with silt gathered in the St. Louis floods, and the car in which the stone was transported was increased 1700 pounds in weight owing to the presence of the river refuse.

Work on the front of the structure will be started at once and pushed as vigorously as is possible.
